

New Change to Treated Wood Standards

The majority of all treated wood used in fresh water docks (including floating docks), piers and walkways should be treated to Ground Contact. This would include decking, joists and beams, cross bracing and other applications where the treated wood would be wetted on a frequent or recurring basis.

Fresh Water Stationary Dock

Fresh Water Floating Dock

For warranty and additional information visit kopperspc.com.